Foreplay in a Row™

The goal of Foreplay in a Row is to become the first player to arrange four chips in a row.

The players have 21 chips, each with a foreplay or sex activity to perform on your partner.

The players take turns dropping chips with the activity of their choice in one of the empty spaces. A player wins by placing four of their own chips consecutively in a line. The four activity chips that form four in a row must then be acted out by the losing player (on the winning player).
